In the first blank, "to save" is the appropriate choice because it indicates the purpose or intention of the action. The painter's action of doing something is with the intention of preventing himself from falling.

In the second blank, "began to slip" is the correct choice because it indicates the initial action of slipping. The phrase "begin to slip" implies that the slipping was starting to happen at that moment.

Answer 2:

The appropriate option to complete the sentence is:

C. I got the car serviced yesterday.

Explanation:

Option C correctly uses the past tense "got" to indicate that the action of servicing the car occurred in the past. The sentence structure "I got the car serviced

Answer 3:

The error is in Part A of the sentence:

A. but was too frighten.

The correct form of the adjective after the verb "was" is "frightened," not "frighten." Therefore, the correct sentence should be:

He realized he had to undergo an MRI test but was too frightened.

Explanation:

"Frighten" is a verb, while "frightened" is the past participle form of the verb that is used as an adjective to describe the state of being scared or afraid. In this sentence, "was" is a linking verb connecting the subject "he" with the predicate adjective "frightened," so the correct form to use is "frightened."

Answer 4:

The appropriate option to complete the sentence is:

B. Persuade, despite

Explanation:

In the context provided, the General is trying to convince or influence his soldiers to march forward despite the lure of extra money and food. The word "persuade" fits well in this context as it means to convince someone to do something through reasoning or argument. Additionally, "despite" is the appropriate conjunction to use to indicate contrast or opposition between the soldiers' reluctance due to the lure of extra incentives and the General's attempt to persuade them. Therefore, option B, "Persuade, despite," provides the most suitable completion for the sentence.

Answer 5:

The best version among the given options is:

A. He told us he had read Milton in a prose translation when he was fourteen.

Explanation:

Option A combines the information from the original three sentences into one clear and concise sentence. It maintains the chronological order of events and effectively communicates that the person had read Milton in a prose translation at the age of fourteen, as conveyed in the original sentences. The structure is grammatically correct and easy to understand.

Answer 6:

The correct option should be A (RQ)

Sentence 1 and sentence R make a mandatory pair by talking about the rural districts first and then the urban districts.

Sentence Q will be preceded by the last sentence because that sentence talks about the data and then gives further information on the data.

Answer 7:

The answer is C. "the reign of the king."

The error lies in the use of the article "the" before "reign of the king." Since the sentence doesn't specify a particular king, it should be "a reign of a king" instead of "the reign of the king." So, the corrected sentence would be:

"A reign of a king was clearly coming to an end."

Answer 8:

Correct Answer: C. QR

Explanation:

- S1: Introduces the topic of reading and its benefits.
- S2 (Q): Explains a challenge related to the topic—difficulty in finding time to read.

Answer 12:

Correct answer is (D)

Answer 13:

The correct passive voice for the given sentence is:

By whom is this mess being created?

Explanation:

The original sentence "Who is creating this mess?" is in active voice.

When converting an active voice sentence to passive voice, the object of the active sentence becomes the subject of the passive sentence, and the subject of the active sentence becomes the agent (or is omitted).

In the passive voice sentence, "this mess" is the object of the active sentence, so it becomes the subject in the passive sentence.

The correct form of the verb "to be" in the passive voice is "is being."

"By whom" introduces the agent (the doer of the action), and it is placed at the beginning of the passive sentence for emphasis and clarity.

Therefore, the correct passive voice sentence is "By whom is this mess being created?"

Answer 14:

The sentence that contains a grammatical error is:

c) Despite of his efforts, he couldn’t win the competition.

The corrected version of the sentence should be:

c) Despite his efforts, he couldn’t win the competition.

Explanation:

The phrase "despite of" is incorrect. The correct phrase is "despite," which means "in spite of" or "regardless of."

So, the error is in the use of "of" after "despite." The corrected sentence removes the unnecessary "of," resulting in grammatical correctness.

Answer 15:

The correct word to fill in the blank is:

a) juncture

Explanation:

A "juncture" refers to a point in time, especially a critical or important one, where a decision or action must be taken.

In the context of the sentence, it implies that the negotiations have reached a critical point where compromise is necessary.

Answer 16:

Answer: A) The deliciously cooked
Explanation: The adverb "deliciously" correctly modifies "cooked" to describe how the food was prepared. No correction is required.

Answer 17:

Answer: A) Despite of his hard work
Explanation: The phrase "despite of" is incorrect. The correct phrase is "despite his hard work."

Answer 18:

Answer 19:

Answer: A) Misfortune
Explanation: "Adversity" means difficulty or misfortune, so its synonym is "misfortune."

Answer 20:

Answer: B) Careless
Explanation: "Diligent" means showing care and effort in one's work, so the opposite is "careless."

Answer 21:

Answer: B) One of my friends is coming
Explanation: The phrase "one of" is always followed by a plural noun, so "friends" is correct, and the verb "is" agrees with the singular subject.

Answer 22:

Answer: A) 1-4-2-3
Correct Sentence: Multiple options are available for solving the problem.
Explanation: The logical flow starts with "multiple options" (subject), followed by "are available" (verb), and then "for solving the problem" (purpose).

Answer 23:

Answer: B) Emphasized
Explanation: The context implies the teacher stressed the importance of practice, making "emphasized" the correct choice.

Answer 24:

Answer: A) To work late into the night
Explanation: The idiom means staying up late to work or study.

Answer 25:

Answer: B) have performed
Explanation: The subject "Each" is singular, so the correct verb is "has performed."
